Players drive trucks in several different racing modes, which can be modified in various ways. Legends The game features six different racing modes, including Legends, Autocross, Hillclimb, Rallycross, Truckcross and Truckstop. The game can be played with the editor in modding and racing mode or with a standard engine and play mode. Champions In addition, there are 10 different racing legends that can be used in the game, including the legendary trucks Linnus from the real life trucks series, belonging to the Swedish truck company Volvo, the Swedish truck manufacturer Scania or the French truck company Renault Trucks. Each of these legends has their own vehicle and their own special attributes, which have to be chosen by the player when he creates a new truck. Content Content of the game includes several different game modes, four different class truck types and more than 40 different trucks to choose from. The game includes a single track consisting of several different circuits, a garage for the player to create and modify new trucks and a vast range of different trucks to choose from. Development Development of the game started in 2014 by Jakob Leif. In September 2014 Jakob started working on a Kickstarter campaign for a game based on real trucks. The game was launched on Kickstarter on September 19, 2014, and was funded within two hours. Afterwards Jakob went on to work on the game, mainly in the field of graphics, physics, physics modelling and the interface. At the start of 2016 the development of the game was launched on Steam, and the first truck was published on the Steam store.
